

12-MILE PURSUIT BY MOTORCYCLE COP CATCHES SUSPECTS

Chase After Bullet-Riddled
Automobile Nabs Men
Called Robbers.

EGG HARBOR CITY, N. J., May 26.—Harry Richardson, twenty-three, of Ardmore, Pa., and H. Harry Watkins, twenty-six, marines stationed at Quantico, Va., on eight-day leave, were arrested here early to-day after a twelve-mile chase by State Trooper William O'Neill.

The two men, who are alleged to be hold-up men, were in an automobile, and O'Neill pursued on a motorcycle. They were identified by Frank Graf and his wife as the two men who, the night before, stopped at Graf's garage, three miles from here, on the White Horse Pike, and held up Graf with revolvers, taking $150 from him. Julius Garnich, owner of the City Line Garage, in Haddonburg Avenue, said he saw the two men in an automobile shortly after midnight to-day. He noticed that the rear of the car was shot through, apparently by a shotgun. Recalling that Mrs. Graf had fired at the men who robbed her husband, as they fled in an automobile, Garnich thought it might be the same men and telephoned to State Police Headquarters. O'Neill responded, and the pursuit and capture resulted.

Richardson and Watkins were held without bail on a charge of robbery.

INQUIRY IN AIRMAN'S DEATH.

New Facts Brought Out in Shooting of McGilvary.

BOSTON, May 26.—New facts in connection with the death of Lieut. Paton C. McGilvary, a former army aviator, whose body, plucked by four bullets, was found in an alley in the Back Bay district more than a year ago, are said to have been related at the inquest into his death, reopened to-day.

Two witnesses, a newspaper reporter and a Police Sergeant, gave testimony to-day. The continuation started several months ago to establish whether McGilvary died a suicide or was murdered, was said to have been urged by Medical Examiner Leary. In his report when the body was found Dr. Leary said death was due to an unknown cause.

Further efforts to clear up the mystery also have been requested by the aviator's father, Prof. McGilvary of the University of Wisconsin.

GERMANY FEARS TYPHUS.

Deplors She Has Not Enough
Flee to Combat Disease.

Copyright, 1922 (New York Evening World),
by Press Publishing Co.

BERLIN, May 26.—Fears that typhus fever and cholera will spread beyond the borders of Russia are expressed by officials of the Prussian Government. They blame the International Commission, which has decreased the number of police trained and equipped to combat the spread of disease.

The pestilence is spreading on the Russian eastern frontiers, it is reported.

PARIS UNPRECEDENTED HEAT WAVE BROKEN.

PARIS, May 26.—The heat wave of two days was broken overnight by cold winds from the northwest. The thermometer made a record for 110 years by hitting 91.10 degrees Wednesday. It was below 90 yesterday. To-day was moderately warm.

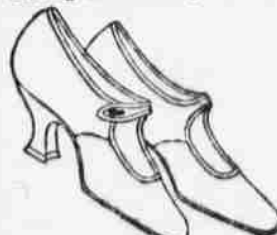

Pre-Decoration Day SPECIAL OFFERINGS

J. Glassberg
(Established 1907)

2 Stores
290 Fifth Ave.
BETWEEN 30TH AND 31ST STS.
511 Sixth Ave.
BETWEEN 30TH AND 31ST STS.

Short & Medium Vamp Shoes

Glassberg Shoes embrace the Highest Qualities, assuring lasting satisfactory service.

White Beechwood Linen
Strap Slippers and Oxford, French or Mil-
lary Heels $9.00
Now showing complete line of Summer Novelty Footwear
in all the leading shades.

$10.00 $11.00 $12.00
Sizes 1 to 9. A to EEE.
Formerly of 58 Third Ave.

Cuticura Soap
Will Help You
Clear Your Skin

Poison Ends Tragic Life Story Of Woman Cattle Rustler Whose Death Still Remains a Mystery

Annie Richey Refused to "Squeal" on Accomplices at Trial, but Was Murdered Later
by Them, is Belief.

KEMMERER, Wyo., May 26. (Copyright.)—The grave which has closed the tempestuous life of Annie Richey, the only woman ever convicted in Wyoming of cattle rustling, is a grave of mystery. Annie was found dead from poison on her ranch. Some say she committed suicide, for she was to have been taken to the Colorado Penitentiary to serve her sentence. Others say she was murdered by men implicated with her, who feared that within prison walls Annie's tongue, sealed throughout her trial, might begin to wag.

Annie died at the age of thirty, an attractive, wilful woman. Misfortune cursed all her adult life. Her marriage to the principal of the Kemmerer public schools led only to divorce. Ranch born and bred, she turned to ranching on her own hook.

A shipment of cattle she made was found to contain many steers which had been subjected to the brand-blotter's handiwork. She was arrested. It was certain others had been associated in rustling with her. But Annie said nothing. She was convicted and sentenced to from one to six years in the penitentiary.

On her way to trial Annie was shot by some unknown person. Her arm was shattered. The sceptical said she shot herself to arouse sympathy. Others said her life had been threatened by the cattle rustlers, who feared she would "squeal."

Then another misfortune overtook Annie Richey. Her devoted father, John Boyer, pioneer citizen, who believed her innocent and financed her legal fight, died, broken hearted.

The consensus of opinion here is that Annie Richey was murdered. The suicide theory is scouted because Otto Palesenberger, hired man on the ranch, partook of the same food which killed her. Palesenberger narrowly escaped death. He tells of a mysterious stranger, who talked to Mrs. Richey two hours before her death, but no trace has been found of the man, whose description coincides with that given by Mrs. Richey of the man she claimed shot her.

Then another misfortune overtook Annie Richey. Her devoted father, John Boyer, pioneer citizen, who believed her innocent and financed her legal fight, died, broken hearted.

The consensus of opinion here is that Annie Richey was murdered. The suicide theory is scouted because Otto Palesenberger, hired man on the ranch, partook of the same food which killed her. Palesenberger narrowly escaped death. He tells of a mysterious stranger, who talked to Mrs. Richey two hours before her death, but no trace has been found of the man, whose description coincides with that given by Mrs. Richey of the man she claimed shot her.

Then another misfortune overtook Annie Richey. Her devoted father, John Boyer, pioneer citizen, who believed her innocent and financed her legal fight, died, broken hearted.

The consensus of opinion here is that Annie Richey was murdered. The suicide theory is scouted because Otto Palesenberger, hired man on the ranch, partook of the same food which killed her. Palesenberger narrowly escaped death. He tells of a mysterious stranger, who talked to Mrs. Richey two hours before her death, but no trace has been found of the man, whose description coincides with that given by Mrs. Richey of the man she claimed shot her.

Then another misfortune overtook Annie Richey. Her devoted father, John Boyer, pioneer citizen, who believed her innocent and financed her legal fight, died, broken hearted.

The consensus of opinion here is that Annie Richey was murdered. The suicide theory is scouted because Otto Palesenberger, hired man on the ranch, partook of the same food which killed her. Palesenberger narrowly escaped death. He tells of a mysterious stranger, who talked to Mrs. Richey two hours before her death, but no trace has been found of the man, whose description coincides with that given by Mrs. Richey of the man she claimed shot her.

Then another misfortune overtook Annie Richey. Her devoted father, John Boyer, pioneer citizen, who believed her innocent and financed her legal fight, died, broken hearted.

The consensus of opinion here is that Annie Richey was murdered. The suicide theory is scouted because Otto Palesenberger, hired man on the ranch, partook of the same food which killed her. Palesenberger narrowly escaped death. He tells of a mysterious stranger, who talked to Mrs. Richey two hours before her death, but no trace has been found of the man, whose description coincides with that given by Mrs. Richey of the man she claimed shot her.

Then another misfortune overtook Annie Richey. Her devoted father, John Boyer, pioneer citizen, who believed her innocent and financed her legal fight, died, broken hearted.

The consensus of opinion here is that Annie Richey was murdered. The suicide theory is scouted because Otto Palesenberger, hired man on the ranch, partook of the same food which killed her. Palesenberger narrowly escaped death. He tells of a mysterious stranger, who talked to Mrs. Richey two hours before her death, but no trace has been found of the man, whose description coincides with that given by Mrs. Richey of the man she claimed shot her.

Then another misfortune overtook Annie Richey. Her devoted father, John Boyer, pioneer citizen, who believed her innocent and financed her legal fight, died, broken hearted.

The consensus of opinion here is that Annie Richey was murdered. The suicide theory is scouted because Otto Palesenberger, hired man on the ranch, partook of the same food which killed her. Palesenberger narrowly escaped death. He tells of a mysterious stranger, who talked to Mrs. Richey two hours before her death, but no trace has been found of the man, whose description coincides with that given by Mrs. Richey of the man she claimed shot her.

Then another misfortune overtook Annie Richey. Her devoted father, John Boyer, pioneer citizen, who believed her innocent and financed her legal fight, died, broken hearted.

The consensus of opinion here is that Annie Richey was murdered. The suicide theory is scouted because Otto Palesenberger, hired man on the ranch, partook of the same food which killed her. Palesenberger narrowly escaped death. He tells of a mysterious stranger, who talked to Mrs. Richey two hours before her death, but no trace has been found of the man, whose description coincides with that given by Mrs. Richey of the man she claimed shot her.

Then another misfortune overtook Annie Richey. Her devoted father, John Boyer, pioneer citizen, who believed her innocent and financed her legal fight, died, broken hearted.

The consensus of opinion here is that Annie Richey was murdered. The suicide theory is scouted because Otto Palesenberger, hired man on the ranch, partook of the same food which killed her. Palesenberger narrowly escaped death. He tells of a mysterious stranger, who talked to Mrs. Richey two hours before her death, but no trace has been found of the man, whose description coincides with that given by Mrs. Richey of the man she claimed shot her.

Then another misfortune overtook Annie Richey. Her devoted father, John Boyer, pioneer citizen, who believed her innocent and financed her legal fight, died, broken hearted.

The consensus of opinion here is that Annie Richey was murdered. The suicide theory is scouted because Otto Palesenberger, hired man on the ranch, partook of the same food which killed her. Palesenberger narrowly escaped death. He tells of a mysterious stranger, who talked to Mrs. Richey two hours before her death, but no trace has been found of the man, whose description coincides with that given by Mrs. Richey of the man she claimed shot her.

Then another misfortune overtook Annie Richey. Her devoted father, John Boyer, pioneer citizen, who believed her innocent and financed her legal fight, died, broken hearted.

The consensus of opinion here is that Annie Richey was murdered. The suicide theory is scouted because Otto Palesenberger, hired man on the ranch, partook of the same food which killed her. Palesenberger narrowly escaped death. He tells of a mysterious stranger, who talked to Mrs. Richey two hours before her death, but no trace has been found of the man, whose description coincides with that given by Mrs. Richey of the man she claimed shot her.

Then another misfortune overtook Annie Richey. Her devoted father, John Boyer, pioneer citizen, who believed her innocent and financed her legal fight, died, broken hearted.

The consensus of opinion here is that Annie Richey was murdered. The suicide theory is scouted because Otto Palesenberger, hired man on the ranch, partook of the same food which killed her. Palesenberger narrowly escaped death. He tells of a mysterious stranger, who talked to Mrs. Richey two hours before her death, but no trace has been found of the man, whose description coincides with that given by Mrs. Richey of the man she claimed shot her.

Then another misfortune overtook Annie Richey. Her devoted father, John Boyer, pioneer citizen, who believed her innocent and financed her legal fight, died, broken hearted.

The consensus of opinion here is that Annie Richey was murdered. The suicide theory is scouted because Otto Palesenberger, hired man on the ranch, partook of the same food which killed her. Palesenberger narrowly escaped death. He tells of a mysterious stranger, who talked to Mrs. Richey two hours before her death, but no trace has been found of the man, whose description coincides with that given by Mrs. Richey of the man she claimed shot her.

OVALATIONS FOR HINDENBURG.

His Visit to Battlefields is Met by Popular Enthusiasm.

Copyright, 1922 (New York Evening World),
by Press Publishing Co.

PILLAU, Germany, May 26.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg's visit to East Prussia, where he will visit the battlefields where the Russian invasion was stopped in 1914, has been met by a great outburst of popular enthusiasm.

Flags were flying from the masts of every ship in Pillau Harbor, and thousands of school children with the old imperial flags in their hands greeted the Marshal as the "savior of East Prussia."

COLORED FUEL AND IRON.
For the quarter ended March 31 last, the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company reports a deficit of $431,269 after payment of interest and taxes. This compares with a surplus of $134,898, equivalent after preferred dividends, to 27 cents a share on the common stock, in the corresponding period of last year. Operating expenses were $3,979,418 as compared with $4,921,644 in 1921. Net income was $596,245, against $1,097,698 a year ago.

RUGS

THE FINEST IMPORTED

9x12 $20.00 Quality Woven Reversible Grass Rugs $8.95
THIS IS THE FINEST and heaviest imported Grass Rug Made and the rug is reversible—may be used on both sides.

Summer Rugs at 1/2 Off

Oval Braided Rugs Beautiful Color Combinations. Imported Japanese Grass Rugs Plain and Pretty Chinese Patterns.

18x36 in.	2.85	9x12 ft.	5.00
24x36 in.	3.85	8x10 "	4.00
24x18 "	3.95	6x9 "	3.00
27x24 "	4.95	4x7 "	2.50
30x20 "	5.95	3x6 "	1.50
36x24 "	6.95	27x24 in.	.98
48x72 "	9.95	18x36 "	.50

9x12 Extra Heavy Royal Axminster $27.95
A very fine extra heavy rug, made for wear, with a very heavy pile—in high grade Oriental and floral designs.

9x12 Seamless Wilton Rug $34.95
A high grade closely woven rug in Chinese and Oriental patterns.

WALK OVER RUG CO. INC.
132 West 34th St. Bet. 6th & 7th. Aves.
Walk over from Broadway—Opposite Macy's

Dance to—

Today's Most Popular Hits

Stumbling Fox Trot Ray Miller and His Orchestra A-3611 75c
Who Tied the Can on the Old Dog's Tail? Fox Trot The Columbians

Some Sunny Day Fox-Trot Ray Miller and His Orchestra A-3603 75c
Georgia Fox-Trot Ray Miller and His Orchestra

Do It Again from The French Doll Fox-Trot Ray Miller and His Orchestra A-3595 75c
Lovey Dove from The Rose of Stamboul Fox-Trot Ray Miller and His Orchestra

Love Days Fox-Trot Paul Biese's Orchestra A-3572 75c
Little Thoughts Fox-Trot Paul Biese's Orchestra

Ask any Columbia dealer to play these records for you. You'll know then why Columbia leads in dance music.

Columbia Records

Columbia Graphophone Company, New York

Never Before Have We Had Such Handsome Blue and Light-Colored

Kuppenheimer Suits $35

Our greatest stock of America's greatest ready-to-wear clothes! Here are suits with a nationwide reputation for being the choicest your money can buy. A reputation ably backed up here in New York by Brill Brothers' own guarantee of complete satisfaction.

New fabrics. New colors. New styles. Sport models. Plain models. Single and double breasted. Skeleton lined. Superbly tailored. Stylish, yet entirely cool and comfortable.

Brill Brothers

The House of Kuppenheimer Good Clothing

Broadway, at 49th Street

Downtown Stores

279 Broadway, near Chambers

47 Cortlandt Street